

What has always puzzled me

- “I stopped eating meat” “oh well, each to their own, as long as you’re not vegan” what’s the point of each to their own??
- “Live and let live”
- Art (you know what I mean)
- Blazers and their pockets being sewn closed. (Actually you’re supposed to cut them open)
- Bra sizes, wtf is that shit (Is somebody trying to grade Breasts?)
- Changing the cover design of a book series before the last book.
- Changing the size of a book in the middle of a series.
- Croutons (the little bread squares in a salad)
- Currencies.
- Flying around the globe to lie on the beach all day. You can do that just three hours from here!
- Forget about pineapple on pizza there are people who put bananas on there
- Hamburgers are sold in packets of four, buns in packets of six.
- How do people earn their life with TikTok’s?
- How it’s always Girls and Men and not Women and Boys.
- How people eat KitKat. There is only one way.
- How something can be unnatural if everything is in fact made out of things found in nature.
- Huge companies that violate human rights and don’t have to pay any taxes.
- If we identify a UFO it’s no longer a UFO!
- Japanese, just that ONE word, Japanese. Like seriously what’s going on inside their head
- Jeans sizes seem to be assigned completely at random, and are not even coherent inside the same store.
- Most people eat meat because most people eat meat!
- My cat. Why does she wake me up at 2:30 sharp each night?
- My mom telling me it’s unnatural to take vitamin B12 supplements while she’s doing a hormone therapy because she doesn’t want to age.
- My neighbour.
- Not seeing people go peeing after sex in a movie.
- Parents that adore their kid but it’s actually so naughty and annoying.
- Parents that take forever to type and then send “Ok”
- People being vehemently angry when they see people dressing in a specific style (for example with ripped jeans)
- People buying/selling peeled Oranges. It comes in a biodegradable package why peel it and put it in plastic?!
- People eating pizza with fork and knife.
- People hating on other people for putting pineapple on pizza - why are you bothered :)
- People liking cheese

- People not understanding what to do with empty toilet paper rolls. “Oh, if I put them next to the loo, the magical loo fairy will come pick them up for me.” NO!
- People selling apricots on the street in the middle of nowhere.
- People thinking that students are experts of their subject as soon as they begin to study
- People who don’t eat the crust of the pizza. Urgh...
- People who don’t know how to break off one piece of tobleron.
- People who don’t like reading but like listening to Audiobooks.
- People who don’t like soup.
- People who drink salad dressing as if it were water...
- People who eat bananas horizontally
- People who know when something happened. I don’t even know whether I ate cake today or two weeks ago. How do you know whether something happened 3 or 4 years ago???
- People who put sauce on everything, why do you like soggy food???
- People who think Rats are disgusting.
- people.
- Pineapple on pizza
- Politics...
- Republicans
- Small jeans pockets for females
- Spaghetti with ketchup.
- That the water in South Africa is so cold.
- The stock market.
- The urge to be the best at everything and bring people down.
- The weird taste you get in your mouth after you wake up from a nap
- Time zones.
- What puzzles me is that every organ got named but the brain, the narcissistic bugger was allowed to name itself
- Why after years of being vegan you still have to say “vegan cheese” or “vegan milk” or otherwise people will assume you stopped being a vegan.
- Why are people happy?
- Why can’t we grow our limbs back?
- Why did evolution lead to plastic?
- Why do most women’s pants not have any pockets?
- Why do we cry when cutting onions, but not for other vegetables
- Why do we need an appointment when we go to a fortune teller.
- Why I can’t become famous.
- Why is it important to send a postcard from the place you’ve been, instead of posting it once you’re at home - why do I care about that?
- Why is the letter ‘w’ called the way it is? (double ‘u’ and not double ‘v’)?
- Why little girls are considered creepy in the horror genre
- Why people ask me how I am when their clearly not interested
- Why people put pineapple on pizza.
- Why people sit next to you in an empty train/bus. (they can’t resist your charming aura)
- Words that end in “-icity”